

ANCESTOR SONG

Holding on to home
To golden stories that whisper
Through my mind and through the air

Carried by the many voices blending into one
I can hear an echo of the souls who parted long ago

Songs of gentle hearts and lonely roads
I travel on familiar ground

When you don't know where your heart is
You'll find it in the ripples of a stone that was thrown a long time ago

Holding on to her
And treasured stories she whispered
Of a memory-painted sky

Carried by the many voices blending into one
I can hear an echo of the souls who parted long ago

Songs of lonely hearts and winding roads
I travel on familiar ground

When you don't know where your heart is
You'll find it in the ripples of a stone that was thrown a long time ago

FLOWERMIND

Meet me by the gentle bend
Where the river hums a song
Can I ease your troubled mind and guide you home?

I feel a burning hope when I speak my heart
And my rivermind is strong
Can I be the silver light that guides you home?

Let it be me, when the winter wind is strong
Let it be me, when the summer song is gone

We have closed the flower-petalled roads
Torn down bridges stone by stone

When our hearts have grown
We shall overcome

Meet my by the mountain ridge
Where the canyon howls along
Can I ease your troubled mind and guide you home?

Listen for the light when I share my heart
And my flowermind is strong

Let it be me, when the autumn breaks your heart
Let it be me, when the spring blooms in the past

We have closed the flower-petalled roads
Torn down bridges stone by stone

When our hearts have grown
We shall overcome

Meet me halfway on the rope bridge
Dance me to the other side
Meet me halfway
Dance me slowly, dance me now

Let it be me, when the winter wind is strong
Let it be me, when the summer song is gone
Let it be me, when the autumn breaks your heart
Let it be me, when the spring blooms in the past

When our hearts have grown
We shall overcome
When all hearts have grown
We shall overcome

WHERE THE OCEAN SLEEPS

All is calm where the ocean sleeps
Here I wait every morning so golden
Dreaming of the land I once knew

Lay my head where the ocean sleeps
Hear your voice in the shimmering waters
Hear the call of the land I once knew

Cascading light
In kaleidoscope skies
Thoughts in my mind are dancing like fireflies

I'll be your northern light
And you'll be my guide
We'll unzip the horizon
And all will be right

I knew hope where the ocean sleeps
Quiet dreams on a morning so golden
Singing songs of the land I once knew

We meet down where the ocean sleeps
Find a home in a haven oh so golden
We belong where the ocean sleeps
In the realm of the tender light of blue

Cascading light
In kaleidoscope skies
Thoughts in my mind are
dancing like fireflies

I'll be your northern light
And you'll be my guide
We'll unzip the horizon
And all will be right

LIGHTHEARTED LOVE

Sand-tangled hair and lemonade
Sun bleached shirts in the salty air
Holding each other tight
When all your words were right, right on time

You were moving the stars in moonlit skies
We danced on solid ground with our heads up in the clouds
Now we're losing ourselves in sepia light
And every word you say, makes me want to stay

Lighthearted Love
Midnight melodies and hazy-colored memories with you

Untamed hair on rainy days

Treasured tapes and a Chardonnay
Holding each other tight
And all your words are right, right on time

We are fooling around till the sun goes down
We dance in amber light while our hearts and hopes collide
We are losing ourselves in this gentle night
And still every word you say, makes me want to stay

Lighthearted Love
Midnight melodies and hazy-colored memories with you

Winter's tales and summer nights
And we still hold each other tight
Love gives us time to grow
Each road we travel on will lead us home

Lighthearted Love
Lighthearted Love will see us through
I am lost without you

LAVENDER FIELDS

Take a walk with me along lavender fields
Feathered words flow free on lavender fields
My mind gently yields
Take a walk with me
Along lavender fields

Take a walk with me under crayon mountains
My wild-child heart mends
In these mindful hours
Take a walk with me
Along lavender fields

I forgive you now
I am ready to let go
I forgive you now
I love you all the more

Chasing rainbows under memory-skies
I'll take your hand and let you fly
My mind gently yields
Take a walk with me
Along lavender fields

I forgive you now
I am ready to let go
I'll forgive you now
I love you all the more

Take a walk with me
One last time
Before we say goodbye
Take a walk with me among lavender fields
Take a walk with me

MARSH GIRL

Beneath the vast September sky
I watch the blackbirds' graceful flight
Soon they'll cover mile after mile after mile after mile

With the wind song in my hair
A quiet longing fills the air
For a brief moment

I forget she's not there

I lie down beneath the silent leaves
I hear their secret melodies
Lay bare old wounds that long have healed
When did she begin to leave?

With the wind song in my hair
A quiet longing fills the air
For a brief moment

I forget she's not there

And I wait and wait
Wait for her to come home
And I can't wait for her to come home

She let me fall and watched me grow
I've fallen many times before
Don't let my guard down anymore

I lie awake and wonder why

I hold on to our distant lullaby

With the wind song in my hair
A quiet longing fills the air
Let the river be my guide

With the wind song in my hair
Feathers floating in the air
For a brief moment

I forget she's not there

And I wait and wait
Wait for her to come home
And I can't wait for her

SILKEN PAPER DREAM

Held only by a string
A little silken paper dream
Flying high up in the clouds
Some time in spring
Held only by a string

I gently wrote my name on it
And let the letters fly
Wondering how far my dream would go
And if the wind will carry it closer
And if the wind will carry it closer to the sun

Held only by a string
My little silken paper dream
You're leaving me down on the ground
Some time in spring
Held only by a string

I guess the world looks different from above
That's where I wanna be
Wondering how far my dream would go
And if the wind will carry me closer
And if the wind will carry me closer to the sun

Held only by a string
My little silken paper dream

Should I try to set you free
And let it go, this tugging string

I'll see you in the open sky
Dancing with the breeze
Believing that my sorrows will be gone
If only the wind would carry me closer
If only the wind would carry me closer to the sun

Held only by a string

STAND ALONG WITH YOU

One more story
Pollutes my mind
I hear the world roar
And I feel afraid

Quietly gazing at 2 am stars
I know sleep won't come
I can't wait for yesterday

I hold you closely
Breathing skin to skin
I feel your heart flow
Just one beat away

You lay your tiny hands in mine
And say: „Let's dream the clouds away“
I can't wait for yesterday
I know that I won't wait for yesterday

I will stand along with you
I don't wanna wait till the world falls apart

Life feels bigger
Since I have you
But when I see it all falling apart
I can't help but feel afraid

The fire rages on and on
I see wise hearts drift away
I can't wait for yesterday
And I know that I won't wait for yesterday

I will stand along with you
I don't wanna wait till the world falls apart

Sometimes it is hard to paint a silver lining
But every time I try I feel a change is gonna come
I can't wait for yesterday

I will stand along with you
I don't wanna wait till the world falls apart
I can't wait for yesterday
I won't wait for yesterday